Marine Debris: Prevention through Partnership

The litter plaguing our oceans is a completely preventable problem, but successful management will require a three-pronged approach of effective policies grounded in sound science, industry participation and innovation, and changes in consumer behavior. Dr. Sherry Lippiatt will be presenting Marine Debris: Prevention Through Partnership based on her experience with the NOAA Marine Debris Program. The program supports research, prevention, and removal of marine debris.

When: Thursday May 16, 2013 @ 5-7pm
