

How Georgia Tech Research Institute Changed Medical Packaging

The IoPP Southeastern Chapter is thrilled to present an evening with Dr. Brad Fain, Principal Research Scientist at Georgia Tech Research Institute. Join us the evening of January 25, 2018 at The Art Institute of Atlanta as Dr. Fain discusses the GA Tech Home Lab and the work that it does to help businesses, governments, and non-profits understand packaging and product needs for aging adults or persons with physical disabilities. He has a lot of fascinating case studies, including a story about his ongoing work with hospital food packaging in Australia.
