VistaTek utilizes the latest technologies in moldmaking and injection molding. Having these capabilities under one roof allows VistaTek to significantly shorten the product development cycle and get your product on the market faster, efficiently and affordably.

Second Tour on same site: SelfEco, a Stillwater-based manufacturing company, creates high quality, attractive, environmentally friendly compostable catering ware like plates, bowls, cups, utensils as well as gardening pots that help plants grow bigger, faster and fuller. See how their items are made from polylactic acid (PLA), which is derived from plants grown in the US.

Danny Mishek, VistaTek's Managing Director and SelfEco's President, will guide us through the manufacturing facilities and share industry expertise and best practices.
